Global Health Lecture Series

Transformative Learning in Rural Belize Through Interprofessional Education

Wednesday, April 23

12 - 1 PM

Zoom \(register here\)

Dr. Carrie Shaver is an Assistant Professor of Health Management and Leadership at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center. Dr. Shaver has a strong background in the social service sector and has experience administering disease prevention, treatment, and health and wellness programs. She endeavors to bridge gaps between traditional silos in healthcare and foster collaboration among healthcare professionals through Systems Thinking. By embracing this holistic framework, she aims to contribute to developing sustainable, inclusive, and equitable healthcare systems. Dr. Shaver's research centers around understanding and addressing the unique healthcare challenges faced by rural and frontier communities along the United States-Mexico border and countries within Latin America and the Caribbean.

This event is free and open to the public. For more information about the lecture series, please contact the Office of Global Health by email or visit our website.
