

Integrative Medicine Mini Series

Narrowing the Health Disparity Gap: Addressing the Social Determinants of Health

featuring

Mary Murimi PHD., RD, Professor of Nutrition
Human Sciences College, Department of Nutritional Sciences

Thursday, October 17th
Noon
ACB 120

Zoom: <https://ttuhsc.zoom.us/j/2729835938>

Dr. Mary Murimi is a professor of Nutrition in the college of Human Sciences at Texas Tech. Dr. Murimi teaches online graduate classes on Nutrition education, and International nutrition. Dr. Murimi's research interests include understanding the effects of the community environment on the nutrition status of the residents, and identifying coping strategies for food insecurity and factors that influence dietary behavior, especially among low-income populations.

Dr. Murimi's Presentation will cover how health inequality results in different rates of illness, disease, or conditions among different populations

This presentation is the most recent lecture from the ongoing collaboration with the Division of Integrative Medicine in the TTUHSC School of Medicine and the Office of Global Health. Since 2016 the collaboration between the Office of Global Health and the Division of Integrative Medicine has provided lectures on popular topics such as Tai Chi, Mindfulness, Performing Arts, etc. For more details about this series please contact Dr. Leslie Shen \(leslie.shen@ttuhsc.edu\)

Free lunch will be provided to the first 50 attendees (Lubbock campus only).
This event is free & open to the public. No RSVP is necessary.

For more information about the Global Health Lecture Series, contact the Office of Global Health at 806-743-2901 or globalhealth@ttuhsc.edu.

Persons needing assistance should contact the Office of Global Health for arrangements.